

CLAIM

I claim as my invention a device that will mount and secure a laptop computer to various work surfaces including but not limited to desks, rolling carts, tables and ergonomic arms. This invention will mount and secure a laptop computer so that the laptop computer is usable and in the open position. This invention is adjustable to accommodate different sizes of laptop computers and will not interfere with or block access to touch screen technology.